

I am concerned that cell phone use in-flight creates another distraction for the crew in performing their safety awareness. Terrorist communication and communication interference are also concerns. I can not think of one instance as a working crew member where use of a cell phone would have optimized the result of an onboard crisis. As unfortunate as the attacks on 9/11 were, they would not have been avoided if cell phone use was allowed.